Wisconsin Citizen-based Monitoring Network Directory
"Who's Who of Citizen-based Monitoring"

To join the directory, fill out the form below and return it to Owen Boyle:
Owen.Boyle@wisconsin.gov

Organization/Project name:

Contact: Name:

                 Title:

                 Email:

                 Address:

                 Phone #:

Website URL:

Facebook URL:

Twitter URL:

Affiliation:

Initial monitoring year:

Are you a school group?   Yes   No

Average Number of Volunteers:

Approximate hrs/volunteer/yr:

Are you interested in recruiting new volunteers?   Yes   No

County(ies) in which you monitor:

Which environments and/or organisms does your group monitor? Check all that apply.

Groundwater	Amphibians/Reptiles
Rivers/streams	Fish
Lakes/ponds/reservoirs	Invertebrates
Soil	Exotics/Invasive Species
Mammals	Native Vegetation
Birds	Other:

Specialization (if applicable):

Wisconsin Citizen-based Monitoring Network Directory
"Who's Who of Citizen-based Monitoring"

To join the directory, fill out the form below and return it to Owen Boyle:
Owen.Boyle@wisconsin.gov

In 2 or 3 sentences, what is the purpose of the monitoring efforts performed by your group?

What type of data do your organization collect? Check all that apply.

Population Status	Habitat Protection
Population Trends	GIS mapping/monitoring
Population Health	Collectors and Users
Population Demographics	Biological Parameters
Threats to Populations	Physical Parameters
Distribution and Range	Chemical Parameters
Habitat Requirements	Other:
Habitat Conditions and/or Availability

What types of support do you provide for your volunteers? Check all that apply.

Training sessions for new volunteers

Advanced training sessions for experienced monitors

Online training (UWEX, UW, gov't, other groups)

Conferences

Volunteer monitor newsletter (print or email)

Other publications

Links to websites of other programs

Data analysis and reporting

Regular meetings throughout the year (or during monitoring seasons)

Email list or list-serve for volunteers

Staff consultation with individual monitors

Group website

Other:

Thank you for your interest in joining the Wisconsin
Citizen-based Monitoring Network Directory!